2023 VALUE-ADDED MEDICINES WEEK

16-20 OCTOBER 2023

GREAT VISIBILITY

We are pleased to announce the return of our Value-Added Medicines Week Conference (VAM Week). VAM Week 2023 is the only conference organized by non-profit groups and dedicated to development and commercialization of repurposed, reformulated, repositioned or reauthorized products. This year our conference will be held virtually and free to all registrants. Our previously held virtual conference in 2021 garnered more than 50 paying attendees per session. But to organize and run the conference we need your help!

As an organization interested in drug development and commercialization we believe this conference offers a unique sponsorship opportunity for under $6,000 to reach companies focused on repurposing and reformulating products. We have developed a robust sponsorship package with 3 different levels of sponsorship that your company can participate in. As a sponsor at any level, you will receive at least one free admission to the conference, your logo on all marketing materials, a direct link to your website from the conference website. There are a range of sponsorship levels which have increasing benefits for the sponsor.

Please see the next page for sponsorship opportunities and benefits.
